THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 8, 1904.

Sundial Maxims. It is quite an interesting thing to learn that some of our best known proverbs and mottoes were originally used in connection with sundials. Be fore the days of watches and clocks, when dials and sun marks were among the rude means of reckoning time, it was a prevailing custom to inscribe

Among the maxims traceable to this source are, "Make hay while the sun shines," "The longest day must end" and "All things do wax and wane."

Sundials spoke the truth, as may be Sundials spoke the truth, as had be inferred from a historic one which was placed on St. Paul's cross, in London, and which proclaimed, "I number none but sunny hours." This no one will doubt who has had occasion to consult a dial on an overcast day.

A famous dial in Sussex, England, bore four famous mottoes applicable to the flight of time and the brevity of life. They were as follows: "After darkness, light." "Alas, how swift!" "I warn whilst I move" and "So passes

Another old sundial spoke petulant ly about the same subject in the words, Sirrah, be gone about your business.'

A Sensitive Horse.

Harsh treatment, though it stop short of inflicting physical pain, keeps a nervous horse in a state of misery. On the other hand, it is perfectly true, as a besotted but intelligent stable keeper once observed to me, "A kind word for a hoss is as good sometimes as a feed

A single blow may be enough to spoil a racer. Daniel Lambert, founder of the Lambert branch of the Morgan family, was thought as a three-year-old to be the fastest trotting stallion of his day. He was a very handsome, stylish, intelligent horse, and also extremely

His driver, Dan Mace, though one of the best reinsmen in America, once reade the mistake, through III temper reacher is a cove cut with the whip, and that single blow put an end to his did and encovernable in harness and remained so for the rost of his life.

Edmund Burke's preatest speech is generally considered to have been the one on "Candillation with America." The report of the speech, supplied by Burke himself, runs to as many as Eurke hinself, runs to as many as shirty-two pages. It contains over 20,-100 words. It, therefore, could not have been delivered under less than five hours. It is curious, by the way, how long winded all the great British orators were in Eurke's time. The older Pitt was the first to indulge in long speeches in the house of com-mons. After he had delivered one of these famous orations he was halled by crowds outside the house with en-thusiastic cries of "Three hours and a Three hours and a half!" as if a man can talk sense for three hours and a half," remarked the cynical Chesterfield, who happened to pass

A Railroad of Curves.

The first railroad west of the Alleghanies was built from Lexington to Frankfort, Ky., in 1831. The road was laid out with as many curves as possible, the engineers declaring that this was an advantage. The cars were in two stories, the lower for women and children, the upper for men, four persons being seated in each compartment. The cars were at first drawn by mules, but after a time a locomotive was made by a Lexington mechanic. The tender was a big box for wood, and a hogshead was provided for water which was drawn in buckets from convenient wells. In place of a cowcatcher there were two poles in front fitted with

The First Phenix

Legend tells us that the first phenix was born in the garden of Eden and had its nest in a great red rose-the first rose that ever bloomed. When the angel drove Adam and Eve out of paradise a spark of fire fell from the angel's flery sword and burned up the phenix and his nest. Out of the ashes sprang a glorious bird, which also lived 500 years before mysteriously burning itself, at every recurrence of which a new phenix is said to arise.

His Explanation.

"All men," said Mr. Meekton, who was preparing a speech, "are created "What did you observe?" asked his wife. "I said all men are created equal.

That is to say, that they are equal to one another. This, of course, is not meant to imply that they are the equals of their wives."-Washington Star.

His Experience With Love. "De you think that love is a disease?" "Well, it makes me feel far from well

"You? Why, I didn't know you were

"I'm not. But I sit opposite it at a boarding house table three times day."-Kansas City Journal. A Boy's Wild Ride for Life,

A Boy's Wild Ride for Life.
With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, W. H. Brown, of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma; but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like maryelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip proves its matchless merit for all Throat and Lung troubles, Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. MISS MONIE BOWEY.

DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

A couple of winters ago I slipped on a frozen sidewalk and fell flat on my back. On being examined I found that I had sustained internal injuries which laid me up for more than two months. After that I noticed that I had pains in the back and groin which I never had before. I doctored and doctored for several months but as the pains increased instead of growing better I decided that I was not having the right treatment. Reading in the papers of the wonderful cures performed by Wine of Cardui I wrote to one of the parties and received a very satisfactory reply and I immediately sent for some. In a very short time I felt generally better and after seven weeks faithful use I was once more well and strong. Thave never had a sick hour since and I daily bless your splendid medicine.

MONIE BOWEY.

Wine of Cardui i makes women more womanly by curing their weakness and making them stronger. Wine of Cardui cured Miss Bowey. NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief. The Strickea Rose From Greek.
What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her ald. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cust a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the in-vestigations of scientists the true cause vestigations of scientists the true cause of bair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. In stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
